Portrait

Dear Sir,

With regard to your kindly expression of desire, when I had the pleasure of your recent call and had the happiness of showing you some of my pictures, I am glad now to be able to take the opportunity to enclose you photographs of the two pictures of which you desired to have particulars.

The "Portrait of a Man" by Sir Anthony Vandyke, is painted on canvas and is in perfect condition.

It comes from the collection of Lord Mount-Stephen, G.C.V.O. of Hatfield, Hertfordshire.

In the Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge, there is an old English Mezzotint, probably made by James Watson, from this picture more than a hundred years ago.

The price of the picture is £2,500. (Two thousand five hundred pounds).

The picture of the "Presentation of the Virgin" by Mabuse is also painted on canvas, and comes from a collection of a famous Cambridge Connoisseur, Mr. C. Brinsley Marlay.

The price of this picture is £2,000 (Two thousand pounds).

If you would care to see the pictures again, or if in any way I can make it possible to meet your desires, or those of your friends, regarding them, I shall be very happy to do anything that is in my power to do so.

Believe me to be,

Faithfully yours,

A.L. Nicholson
